

実践短文解釈 9

9. She was malicious and liked to make people think ill of each other, but she was not aware of it, and was instinctively subtle in her methods.

She would praise people in such a way as to cause others to admire her generosity, and think worse of the people praised than if she had criticized them.