

実践短文解釈 10

10. We often come across a type of persons who try ingeniously to win our praise by talking about an incident which happened just as they had foretold when no one would believe it or telling of a man to whom they gave kind advice, so that the man might not suffer misfortune, but who would have his own way and did suffer misfortune.